himself furnished any detailed information as to what he is going to do.

3) As it may be financially objectionable for any officer to draw money from the Treasury long before an exp^re falls due (but the present case is one of a special nature) it is a question for consideration whether the Dy. Com^r may not be asked to draw money on A.C. bills as he requires, debiting the exp^re to the head of "Receipts of Important Demands but without exceeding a certain limit to be prescribed by Govt with ref^e to the other items of exp^re.
